Becoming a Chemical Engineer in China

Werner Glass was born in Berlin, Germany and was six years old when his family fled Nazi Germany in 1933 They relocated to Shanghai, China where Werner grew up and began his chemical engineering education. He came to the United States in 1947 and finished his undergraduate degree at Syracuse and then earned SM and SCD degrees from MIT.

He spent his entire career with Exxon Research & Engineering in Product Research, Corporate Planning and Coordination. He worked on pipelining heavy crudes fluidized and fixed bed flow patterns fuel cells automotive emissions and then worked on the Exxon Research and Engineering president's staff performing a variety of administrative and technical functions. He retired in 1986.

Werner will talk about Becoming a Chemical Engineer in China. Some of us have been fortunate to have talked to Werner and learned parts of his story and found it fascinating. We look forward to hearing more and invite members and guests to join us in hearing this amazing story.

Fellows Survey

All Fellows should have received a request to participate in a national survey on the role of Fellows in AIChE. Please participate. If you've lost the link, let me know and I'll get one to you.

NJAICHe Elections

Elections are coming up. If you would be interested in helping organize and operate our section, please contact me or one of the other officers. It's a good way to network and we could use the help.

NJAICHe Dues

You should have received your AICHe bill for 1010 recently. In some cases, the bills come preselected for local section (32) dues but not always. We value your participation and hope you'll join. If the local section information is not complete, please consider contributing $20 to our section for 2010. As I've mentioned before, our expenditures are almost entirely related to supporting student activities at local universities.

Executive Committee Meeting

The Executive Committee meeting for March will be held on September 14th at Paisano's Pizza at 6:30 pm. All members are welcome.
